DISTRESSING OCCURRENCE.—On Tuesday afternoon, last, about half past three o'clock, the proprietor of the Franklin company, Mr. James Taeff, with the assistance of Mr. Henry Harland, put off a blast of fifteen kegs of powder in the company's tunnel. In a short time after the explosion, Mr. Harland, who had superintended the work, imprudently ventured in the tunnel to examine as to the results of the explosion, and not returning out of the tunnel as soon as expected, and Mr. Taeff hearing groans, proceeded in, also; when he too was affected by the unhealthy air produced by the blast, and fell; Mr. Philip Nichols, who happened to be present and who accompanied Mr. Taeff into the tunnel, was partially affected by the impure air, but succeeded in making his way out on his hands and knees, and on recovering, gave the alarm as to the perilous condition of the two unfortunate men, when several immediately rushed to the rescue, among whom were Dr. Nelson and Mr. James Robinson. These gentlemen succeeded in first getting Mr. Harland to the mouth of the tunnel, and afterwards brought out Mr. Taeff. The appearance of Mr. Harland was anything but favorable when taken from the tunnel; being barely able to breathe, and presenting the appearance of quick dissolution. But on being exposed awhile in the open air the indications became more favorable and strong hopes were entertained of his recovery. He was taken home to his family, followed by a group of friends. He lingered on till about two o'clock on Wednesday morning, when he breathed his last. Mr. H. came to this State in the year 1849, and has been a resident of Nevada and Placer counties ever since; he was at one time, we learn, in independent circumstances, but owing to the reverses of fortune he had become quite reduced. He leaves a wife and three children, of whom he was the sole protector and support. He was a native of one of the German States, and was at the time of his demise, 33 years of age. Mr. H. was highly respected by the citizens of this place for his high integrity, manly qualities, and courteous manners.

Mr. Taeff was carried home, where, we are pleased to learn, he has so far recovered as to be considered entirely out of danger.

With the terrible and distressing results of incaution immediately before us, we again urge the observance of prudence and reflection on the part of those engaged in the vocation of mining. They should be able to profit by the many sad and terribly fatal accidents which continually occur in our mining localities, by which families are left to battle with the stern and uncharitable realities of a selfish world; their little ones deprived of the protecting arm and fostering care of him they so recently made happy by their cheerful smiles and blithesome rejoicings. It is no sign of manhood that you dare contend with the elements or rashly brave the certain occurrence of inevitable natural causes. We wish that we could fully impress our thoughts upon our miners, and that they would act upon the suggestions, in this matter, of those who would deter them from the insane hardihood so frequently manifested in exposing life and limb.

THE EXHIBITION.—The exhibition given by the Sunday School children of this place we are glad to chronicle as an entire success. At the hour announced for commencing the theater was densely filled with ladies and gentlemen; and the preparations for the successful accomplishment of the objects of the enterprise had been made in a manner highly creditable to those having the management. The curtain raised and displayed to the view of the audience about sixty children decked off in their gayest costumes; reminding one of an immense flower bed, with all its beautiful roses, pinks, hyathinths dahlias, etc., in full bloom, interspersed with the most sparkling brilliants peeping out from the general bouquet. To particularize, would extend this article to a greater length than we can at present spare; and we shall be compelled, after briefly noticing a few of the most prominent features of the exhibition to generalize. The piano accompaniments by Mrs. Cook were excellent, such as is seldom the good fortune of our people to hear; the singing by the children we think was as good as could be expected, but that of the quartette composed of Mrs. Hauser, Mrs. Northrup, Miss Amos, and Mr. Northrup, in the execution of the beautiful hymn "Kind Shepherd lead me over the plain," was one of the best executed pieces we have heard for many a day, the clear, belle-like ringing of the ladies' voices was beautifully joined by the deep and masterly toned bass of the gentleman: this song alone was ample compensation for the admission price. The declamations were excellent, such as the youths who officiated may be justly proud; and without intending to be invidious, we must say, taking into consideration the age of the youth, that Marcus Holmes carried the palm in declamation; the others were well executed, but for ease, fluency, and appropriate gesticulation, Master Holmes, in his beautiful piece on the "evils of war," was equal in every respect to the occasion. The performance of little Eddy Hauser on the guitar, accompanied by his song, was one of the principal features of the exhibition, and was rapturously applauded. The tableaux were well arranged, and artistically executed, the main feature in this line was the May Queen, by Miss Arnold; many of the young gentlemen, it was observed, heaved deep sighs as the curtain descended, hiding the beautiful group composed of her floral majesty and attendant maids. The Superintendent, Mr. Davis, is entitled to great praise for the untiring industry he has displayed in organizing this Sunday School, and the energy and perseverance exhibited in keeping it up. The money realized by the exhibition, we hear, is sufficient to supply the library with an adequate number of books for the coming year. There are many who are now attendants on this school that will in after years remember the kindness of their pious Sunday School Superintendent with gratitude.

CAN'T STAND IT.—Mr. Lincoln has ordered another prayer and our turkeys have given out.

LETTER FROM REESE RIVER.

[CORRESPONDENCE TO THE ENQUIRER.]

AUSTIN, N. T., Nov. 26, 1863.

FRIEND BOUST:—There was no time to be lost. They were advancing according to the most approved modern tactics—officers in the rear. I prepared to meet their advancing columns. Remembering the proverb that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast" I cleaned my throat and tried to sing. But nary-a-sing. This was not the result of being "overawed," for I never could sing, although I have a fine ear for music. Seeing that there was no alternative but to give battle I immediately threw my forces into position, my left wing on the arid hills of the Humboldt and my right on the fertile banks of the Carson. I determined to come the "anaconda" on them, but the enemy was too crafty to be foiled by such strategy.—"He" retreats in good order, all save one old, "demoralized," "panic stricken" whelp, who deserts, "comes into our lines," and brings with him a squaw's stocking full of pine nuts which he proposes to "swap for tobac." This old thief was mounted and as he drew near I pulled out a plug of peach brand for which I had paid one fifty at a back station, not with the view of "swapping" as he had suggested, however, but for the purpose of exhibiting my magnanimity in doing an act of kindness to one whom fate or the chances of war had placed in my power. Thinking him perhaps a better judge of the quantity used at a chew, I placed the plug in his hand, when with a shrug of the shoulders and a half hitch of his blanket, which half hitch "gobbled up" my tobacco, and exclaiming "mooucha," "mooucha," he slapped spurs to his shaved tail pony and retreated on the double quick. As these "children of the forest" "girded up their loins" and started over the mountain afar off to my right, I appreciated more strongly than ever before the adage that "distance lends enchantment to the view." The further they got the better I liked them. The day was won, a "peace conquered" with but small loss "on our side." I pass on till we reach Reese River which is a small clear stream winding through a beautiful valley some eight miles in width. In this valley which is nine miles west of Austin, Jacobsville is situated and is the county seat of Lander county, though I believe there is a kind of "irrepressible conflict" with somebody about moving the capital to Austin, Leaving Jacobsville, four miles brings you to the foot hills, and a gradual ascent of four more, to Clifton, a small place of good appearance, nestling beautifully between the soaring mountain. One mile further along the side of a precipitous mountain and you are at Austin where you find the streets literally thronged with people from "early morn till dewy eve." When you arrive tired, dusty, dirty, unabreviated "phiz," sore lips, probosis ditto, and sun burnt so badly that the present Administration would view you with favor, your first impulse is to seek a bath house which you will find on the south side of Main street, made of brush with a blue blanket hung up as a door. I notice some knight of the quill gives the following as a Reese River bath. "One and a half gallons muddy water, a bar of brown soap, a coarse brown towel about the size of the Reveille, and a dollar and a half." My experience corroborates the above statement. Austin has ten thousand inhabitants, a good school numbering some fifty pupils, a dance house, and a negro barber. We have preaching occasionally on the street, and Sunday School regularly each Sabbath at the school house. Business of all branches is good and those who are fortunate enough to have a house are making money. The mines are rich and more extensive than in any other part of the Territory. Good rock has been found on the range for a distance of forty miles either way. The extent of the mines and number of ledges is a serious draw back to those who speculate in "feet," parties choosing to "prospect," and discover for themselves rather than buy. This indeed is one of the reasons why ground is so remarkable low. I have seen rock here that would discount the rock taken from those rich claims around Virginia City, yet, strange as it may appear, our "star" ledges only bring from seventy-five to a hundred dollars per foot. Three or four small mills are completed and ready for operation so soon as water can be had. The supply of water about Austin is very limited, only two or three springs in the immediate vicinity, and they are held as private propery and the water carted about town and sold at twenty-five cents a bucket. Big creek, three miles south of Austin, affords a bountiful supply of water, and other facilities for milling. It is thought the most of the substantial mills will be built there. Cañon city, located on Big creek, is looking up, and bids fair to soon rival Austin in point of importance. But I have already written much more than I anticipated when I begun, besides I am not very well. Last night, in company with an ex-Senator from California, I "preempted" the lee side of a bale of hay in a coral, and owing to the criminal negligence of "mine host," in failing to shut the gate, I have a severe cold and tixdolaraux. I leave here for the white settlements (Virginia and Gold Hill) in a few days. I will write you again upon my arrival their. In conclusion I would advise no one to come here before April next.

I am yours, pathetically,

QUITMAN.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.—It is a singular fact that nearly all the members elect have sent their orders to HEUSTON, HASTINGS & CO. of San Francisco, for their fine clothng well knowing that HEUSTON, HATTINGS & CO. had sold out in Sacramento and of course they must send their orders some time ahead to San Francisco as the firm is doing an immense trade and must have time to fill their orders.

☞ President Lincoln is afflicted with what his friends term "varioloid" but what is known among poor folks as the small pox. Probably it is only his good humor striking out. Hope it won't kill him.

WEATHER.—The weather has been rather "threatening" for the past week, but that antiquated individual, the oldest inhabitant, is confident that nothing serious is to be apprehended. He says that such blustering blow over without anything happening.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The Fifteenth Session of the California Legisiature commenced its labors on Monday the 7th instant. The work of organizing was not a very herculean task this year; there being a great preponderance of the "faithful," it was probably thought impolitic by the opposition to attempt a fight, knowing they would be speedily "golloped up." The Senate was organized by electing R. Burnell, of Amador county, President pro tem.; Charles Westmoreland, of San Francisco, Secretary; J. W. Helmser, of Placer, Sergeant-at-arms. We are glad to notice that our old friend, Albert Hart, has been elected Enrolling Clerk of the Senate; he is eminently fitted for the position, as indeed he is for almost any he might aspire to. He is one among the very few honest Republicans with whom we are acquainted; espousing the principles of his party for the sake of what he sincerely believes to be truth. He is one of that class, however, who, possessing talent, is destined to occupy a position in the rear rank, while presumptuous upstarts secure lucrative offices by speaking words from his mouth.

The Assembly organized by electing William H. Sears, of Nevada county, Speaker; Rev. O. C. Wheeler, of Sacramento, Chief Clerk; and William H. Rider, of Sonoma, Sergeant-at-arms.

Now that the government wagon of our State has been put in working order, we hope those employed in running it may be actuated by motives of honesty and justice; thus forming a noticeable contrast to the legislatures which have preceded it for the past three years. It is to be hoped that the members elected from this county may think more of the good and welfare of the people than a blind adherence to a party, the workings and measures of which entail desolation and ruin upon us.

WHAT NEXT?—We notice that A. N. Gamble, who is, or was, postmaster at Auburn, in this county, has been elected Engrossing Clerk of the Assembly. Now, as the pretended Solons who have assembled at Sacramento have taken both the Federal and State Constitutions under their protection, we politely inquire if it is according to Hoyle for one to have two offices, when the income of either is over five hundred dollars? We know competent Abolitionists who need the patronage of the dominant party in order to live, and they should not be kept in the cold while another occupy a multiplicity of offices. We do not make these remarks at the suggestion of any particular Abolitionist, but if an office was tendered we know of two who would gracefully accept.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The Reese river Reveille of December 1, holds the following sensible language in relation to the question of the Territory aiding in the construction of the Central Pacific Railroad:

"We are in favor of our Convention placing such restrictions on the Legislature that it will not be enabled, if so disposed, to burden the State of Nevada with a heavy debt while yet in its infancy, but we do most strenuously protest against a clause being inserted in our Constitution which will prevent the State from aiding in the building of the Pacific Railroad.

"This enterprise is of vital importance to,—and absolute necessity for the development of the vast mineral resources of our Territory, and Nevada would be criminally false to her best interests if she did not subscribe to it liberally—even to an extent, if necessary, bordering on extravagance. We believe that the citizens of the Territory are fully satisfied of the importance of this road, and will cheerfully contribute their proportion of the State's subscription.—This railroad would lower the price of living one-half, if not more, would double the population of our State within two years from the time it was completed, would bring the miners and the capital here to develop every portion of the country, would bring the sulphur and salt of Humboldt, and the copper of Peavine into market, and would largely decrease the price of crushing, thereby greatly increasing the receipts of our mines, and enable them to crush rock with good profit which they would otherwise be compelled to throw away.

"The saving to the people of the new State may be estimated from the fact that, as stated by one of the largest owners in the Placerville toll road, who instructed his gate keepers to keep an account of the number of wagons and tons of freight passing through their gates, the amount paid for freight received by this route, during this year by the citizens of Nevada, will not fall short of twelve millions of dollars. That received by the other routes will certainly amount to one quarter of that sum, swelling the aggregate to fifteen millions of dollars,—three millions more than the estimated cost of building the railroad across the Sierra Nevadas. If this freight was brought by railroad the cost for its carriage would not be more than one-quarter of this large sum. All the stupendous toll road monopolies of course oppose giving any aid to the railroad, and some of their agents are now at Carson button-holing the Constitution makers. One of the companies, we notice, recently gave the members of the Convention a "free ride" over their road. If the Convention suffers itself to be influenced by their extremely economical opinions, and cajoled by the soft persuasions of these toll-road monopolists into permitting the anti-railroad clause to remain in the Constitution their course will, we think, be reprobated by a vast majority of the people of the Territory, and we fear that it will prove a most serious obstacle to the adoption of the Constitution, and the early admission into the Union of the State of Nevada."

RIGHT MAN IN THE RIGHT PLACE.—The Quincy Union says it has no personal acquaintance with the gentleman who succeeds to the editorial chair of the Marysville Appeal, but judging from the notices given him by the Copperhead press, thinks he is the right man in the right place.—Sac. Bee.

Will the Democratic Press, Colusa Sun, Red Bluff Beacon, and some others, including the Virginia Enterprise, and one or two other Union papers, take heed, and prepare themselves for a scaling one of these days, when a good opportunity occurs?—Appeal.

We did not know before the papers above mentioned were edited by amphibeous animals with scales on their backs, neither did we know that the Appeal was edited by a fishmonger, but since he talks of going into that branch of business we wish him success, and will say that we think he will be "the right man in the right place."—Express.

NEWS FROM REESE RIVER.

We take the following items from the Reese river Reveille, of the 1st inst., kindly furnished us by Mr. Hoos of this place:

SAN ANTONIO DISTRICT.—Mr. Levi Fisk called upon us since our last issue and gave us some interesting information concerning the location and discovery of this new district. It is situated about one hundred and twenty-five miles due south of Austin, on the foot-hills of the range of mountains which forms the eastern boundary of Smoky Valley, at a point where they are cut by a valley which intersects Smoky at right angles. It was discovered about four weeks since by a party of Spaniards, who were employed to prospect. Since that time about twenty-five ledges have been discovered and located, and fully seventy-five persons are there at present busily engaged in prospecting. Among the ledges which have been discovered, and from which we have been shown specimens, are the Liberty, Potomac, Bunker Hill, Susquehanna, and New Hope. Assays have been made of nearly all of them, but of course always from rock taken off at the surface, as none of them have been sunk upon them to any depth, and the yield has been between seven and nine hundred dollars. At the surface the ledges vary in width from four to twenty-five feet. The good yield obtained from the assays, and the fine appearance of the rock, have caused much excitement in that vicinity, and the whole country is being thoroughly prospected. A number of ranches have been taken up and a town has been laid off called San Antonio. There is but little pine timber to be found there—as about Austin—the wood, an abundance of which is within a distance of three miles from the town site, being mostly cedar. A number of fine springs, conveniently situated, furnish a sufficient quantity of good water for drinking purposes, and within twenty-five miles is an abundance for milling and all other purposes. A number of persons intend remaining there during the winter and prospecting work so far as able. They will obtain their winter supply of provisions from this section.

MILL AT AMADOR.—Last Saturday the machinery for a large quartz mill arrived at San Francisco Cañon at the mouth of which it will be erected. It belongs to a gentleman from San Francisco. Nine large ox wagons were required to haul the machinery. When the wagons arrived at the mouth of the cañon, there was no road by which they could enter, but about twenty-five men being put to work, in a few hours a fine and easy grade was made. About twenty men are now at work grading and erecting the necessary timbers. If the proprietor continues to push the work forward as rapidly as he has so far, it will be but a short time before the mill will be in operation. It will do much towards the development of that region.

BUSY.—Last Sunday was about the busiest day that we have seen in several weeks. Main street was at one time completely blockaded with teams, principally six mule wagons, and almost every business house seemed to be receiving freight. We noticed the complete framework of several houses being unloaded.—Lumber was the principal item of receipts, though a large quantity of groceries, provisions, &c., were also received.

INCORPORATED.—The following Companies have recently filed their certificates of incorporation at San Francisco:

Vesta Gold and Silver Mining Company.—Location, Reese River. Trustees—B. E. Babcock, R. Grant and P. H. Cumming. Capital $240,000.

Dunkirk Gold and Silver Mining Company. Same location and trustees as above. Capital stock $240,000.

Troy Gold and Silver Mining Company.—Same location and trustees as above. Capital $240,000.

Carson Gold and Silver Mining Company.—Location, Reese River. Trustees—John C. Morrison, Jr., James Mathewson, A. J. Bryant, Wm. Snowden, G. W. Thomas. Capital $100,000.

TOLEDO LEDGE.—This is the name of a ledge recently located by James Horder, in the vicinity of the Vineyard. Not much work has yet been done upon it, but near the surface the quartz looks very well. The ledge is about three feet in width, well defined, with hard casings. Preparations are being made to sink an incline upon it.

SMOKY VALLEY.—Work will be prosecuted during the Winter upon about fifteen ledges in this district, and if the present good weather continues for a few weeks it is probable that others will commence. The Antiquarian, Great Central, Masonic Tunnel and several others are now being worked, and in a few days operations will be commenced upon the Chieftain. About thirty of those in the valley at present will winter there.

QUAIL SHOOTING.—Next month our sportsmen can enjoy themselves to their heart's content. While in Santa Cruz county, last fall, we bagged enough to fill all the pockets in one of HEUSTON, HASTINGS & CO.'S. Hunting Coat, in less than three hours, and from what we learn from all sections of the State, the game is far more plenty this year than last.

LETTER FROM NIMROD.

Nimrod himself was a mighty hunter who roamed the dim forests of the Past, crying, havoc, and letting loose his javelin among many and divers strange and savage beasts which therein had their lair. But Nimrod of to-day (alas, for the degeneracy of the times!) has little to boast, save being a Dutch Flatter of the eccentric clan that roam with blunderbuss their native hills. With the scope of whose individual havoc for one day will be unfolded herein. With all due deference to the skill of Nimrod of old, your Nimrod submits that he would hunt for prestige with that mighty personage, in the adjacent hills; and furthermore, your Nimrod would obligate himself to eat everything (wood-peckers and ox-drivers, excepted) by which he might, would could or should be overmatched—fur, feathers, and all.

In the piney wood skirting the stage road, just this side of the glimmering "Dixie," one day this week, there might have been seen a sportsman sitting upon a rail fence with arms diagonally laid across his lap; or perhaps more neatly described by the employment of the figure of a rail fence "parade, rest." The view was cheerful—the landscape view, not the sportsman, dear reader. "Dixie" just glimmering through the thinned wood whose slaughtered trunks lay heaped in inextricable ax and fire-carred confusion; grimly presided by tall, roughly lacerated, and blackened stumps grouped, as in Congress, upon man's fell wrath; and cronicing over their tales of sorry deaths by unskillful ax-men, and further torture by smouldering fires. A waste, figureless and silent, all, save a crimson tufted woodpecker who worked with loud tappings upon a near neighboring tree, keeping a sharp look out upon the sportsman, and winding around more deftly as approaching his view. Quoth the sportsman, "Beshrew me, but I am insensible to a noble favor of Jove's!" And bang went the gun. There was wild flattering in the neighboring tree, and lo, a feathery form, wide spread, and clinging to the tree whereon it had been arrested in its rounds, frantically fanning the air, and wildly beating the tree. Now, bolt upright, and shaking the crimson drops from its blinded eyes, and doubly crimsoned plume; now, burrying its slender talons in the rough bark, and rearing back and uttering piercing little screams; now, fanning the air faintly and careering over backward and —giving up the ghost. Now hanging pendant by one little claw; and now, loosening its last fragile hold upon hearth and thereof, and swiftly descending with a "thud" to the ground. "Bravo!" cried the sportsman, leaping from his perch in the enthusiasm attendant upon a successful shot, and advancing upon his trophy.

"Jacob! Jacob!" cried a voice from the branches above; and lo, Madame Woodpecker, ascending the tree by short and rapid stages, and peering downward upon the scene. "Jacob! Jacob!" she cried and continued to climb. Quoth I doffing my hat, "my dear madam, I have slain poor Jacob!"

"My Ja-cob! my Ja-cob!" cried the bird, speeding away in wavy flight. "Miserable wretch that I am!" quoth I; "what home in a hollw tree have I rendered desolate?" And thus I lashed myself. "Why have I slain this innocent thing? Why spilled the gem of this feathered casket? To test my skill? Why not turn my murderous tubes upon the cradle of a sleeping infant; does a common Father love this little type the less because of its varying mould and ruder habits, was it not an emblem of His will, and extended grace, tossed by His hand into these wilds, and bade to unfold a principle? Canst thou refashion it, oh sportsman; is thine the secret of the wondrous germ thou scatterest so freely? Come, then, repair thy mischief; wipe off these tell-tale globules; ope these closed eyes; smooth this poor plumage; and toss the little form in air, and bid it fly again, an emblem of His grace abroad!"

Quoth the sportsman, shouldering his blunderbuss: "And this is very like a CONVERSION. If your good pastor were present, it is possible he might, with this little key, walk into my tabernacle, lock the door after him, and have it out with my devil!" Approaching the stage road, I perceived through the brush, the apparent phenomenon of a mountain of cord wood oscillating the air; but upon advancing toward it rapidly, I soon discovered that it was being drawn along the road by four oxen, with attendant tall yeoman flourishing the long Yankee "gad stick," and all moving majestically in the direction of Dutch Flat. Reaching the immediate skirting of the road, I poised myself upon a stump to admire the approaching pyramid, and to render silent tribute to the genius of the yeoman who evidently had conceived and executed it, and to the noble team which, with proud and stately carriage drew it onward.—Steadily and graudly it was bearing toward me, and when but a few yards distant the "off-fore wheel" disappeared from view. The pyramid, with a volcanic shock suddenly loosing about a foot in altitude, miserably careening and bulging to one side, and otherwise being swiftly and greatly disturbed in the fair proportions which had caught my fancy.

"Now look here, boys!" cried the yeoman to his oxen, coming to a sudden halt, and bringing his "gad-stick" to a position which, in my ignorance of teamsterial phrases I will describe as charge "gad-stick." "You saw that hole just as well as I did. Didn't I see you lookin' at it? and wouldn't I hollered "gee," if I hadn't knowed you knowed beter? Now will you take it out here; or shall I commence on you? What do you say, Buck? What have you got to say about it Star and Line? What's your conclusion, Golden? You'll try it, will you? Well, 'gee' a little, 'haw' Star and Line, ho, Golden!" And in many and divers times and motions, the yeoman charged "gad-stick," fast and furiously, passing around the boys swiftly and frequently, swearing hoarsely and fearfully, and gliding from the manual of oaths and arms for infantry into the manual of oaths and arms for cavalry, employing: "Right, left and rear moulinet; in tierce, point; in quarte, point. For the head, point, cut and parry: right, point; left point; rear, point, cut and parry: right, cut and point; left, cut and point: front, cut; rear, cut; thrust and parry," etc., interspersing his exercises with oaths befittingly mounted and caparisoned. The tall yeoman, his hoarse shoutings, the terrible circle of his "gad-stick," and the poor, striving and apparently incapable oxen, vividly recalling to my mind's eye, dear Guard, the picture of the hoarse, herculean Orderly of the Yolo Cavalry before a group of mountain infantry captains, endeavoring to shout and example it unto them how to draw their swords to befittingly salute our Major on dress parade, at Camp Kibbe.

"Well, now, look here, boys," said the yeoman pausing, exhausted in his fruitless strife, resuming infantry bearings, and bringing himself and fall "gad-stick" to the position of "rest." "You've got to take this out of here: I shan't take off a stick. You know you can do it, and you ought to know I know it—much as I've been along with you, and seen you pull.—You've kinder had your backs up all day, like you'd got your feelins hurt about something: now if you've got any complaints to make, I'll hear 'em. Don't you have as much hay and ground barley as any oxen on airth? Aint you got a trough where you can go and drink without getting sick to the stummic? Aint you got a good shed to sleep in when the weather's cold? Do I work you more'n half the time; and when I do have you up, do I work you half as hard as I work myself? Do you recollect of my ever using you onkind, unless you deserved it? Do you, Buck? Do you, Star and Line? Can you put me in mind of anything of the kind, Golden? Well, then, what on airth is it all about; you don't to say you think you can't take this out o' here! What, this little load of sticks; is that so, Buck; is that so, Star and Line; is that your opinion, too, Golden? Well, boys, it ain't mine; and we'll see who knows the most. You can think it over, and come round kinder graceful, if you want to, and while you're about it, I'll jest kind o' dig like round this 're wheel, if I can find the ax to sharp a stick to do it with."

GEN. WOOL.—This old officer who has spent the best years of his life in the service of his country, a man against whom there has been no charge made, has been relieved of his command without any cause being assigned by the 'powers that be.' The General comes out in a letter and expresses his utter astonishment at the whole transaction. We make the following extract from his letter:

"No reasons were assigned and I am not aware that I have at any time, either before or since the rebellion commenced, done or omitted to do, anything which should have induced the President to order me so suddenly from the command in New York, the next day after the riot had been put down and quiet restored to its citizens. I am sure when the truth is made known it will be discovered that it could not have been in consequence of my neglect of duty to prevent the riot, or to put it down when it occurred. On the contrary, if my earnest and urgent appeals to guard the city and harbor had heeded and acted upon, I am confident there would have been no riot in New York. However this may be, or whatever may have been the cause or motive which induced the President to remove me from the command in New York—no doubt the result of false representations—I assure you it has not produced the slightest change in my feelings or views as previously entertained of the rebellion, nor to prevent me from doing all in my power to put it down.

HIGHWAY ROBBERS.—On the afternoon of last Saturday, says the Marysville Express, as Mr. Henry Powell was returning from San Juan to Birchville, where he resides, he was attacked by two highwaymen, who demanded his money. Having considerable cash about his person, he started to run, when they shot him through the arm, near the shoulder, the ball passing through and lodging in the side, producing a painful but not dangerous flesh would. He kept on running until he reached the house of Mr. Joseph Chadwick, to whom he related the facts, when the latter gentleman procured a posse and went in pursuit of the robbers, but did not succeed in overtaking them. On the same afternoon, a party returning from Washo to Marysville, in a spring wagon, were attacked on the other side of San Juan by—it is supposed—the same party of robbers, but they whipped up their team and escaped. The northern counties of this State, as well as those of Nevada Territory, are infested with highway robbers of the worst character.

MEDICAL.

DR. J. C. YOUNG,

LATE PROFESSOR IN THE UNIVERSITY PENNSYLVANIA,

Private Medical and Surgical Establishment.

Devoted exclusively to treatment of private diseases of whatever nature, and all diseases to which (as a sex) females are liable.

No. 615 Commercial street,

OPPOSITE THE MINT, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

CONSULTATION (by letter or otherwise) FREE.

THE NEAR APPROACH OF THIS ESTABlishment to the business portion of the city, and, at the same time, its retirement, renders it easy of access and assures the patient full guaranted of secrecy.

Dr. J. C. Young has been a practical specialist for a period of twenty years, and for twelve years on this coast, during which time his private medical and surgical institute has been in uninterrupted successful operation, discharging cured annually upwards of five thousand patients. Cure always guaranteed or no pay required.

Long practice and thorough investigation into the causes of diseases of the urinary organs, enables Dr. Young to determine clearly, and at once, the true nature of the complaint submitted to his care, securing the patient against the dangers of delay liable, and which, alas! too often do arise from mistaken judgment; thus treating the disorder from the start with all the advantage a perfect knowledge gives.

Venereal diseases, of every class and nature, cured in the most perfect, speedy, and permanent manner, without the use of mercury in any form.

Syphilis and its adjuncts, Gonorrhœa and its accompanying diseases; all disorders of the Bladder, Kidneys, and Prostrate; Seminal Weakness; Diseases of the Heart and Lungs; Dyspepsia; Indigestion; Impotency; Incipient Consumption, etc.

Persons afflicted with symptoms after having been treated, should consult Dr. Young at once, as no disease is cured unless the patient feels perfectly well. If there is a particle of disease left in the system, it will break out at some future time when least expected, or be handed down to an innocent offspring.—Persons who have been treated with mercury should be very cautious in believing that they are well for it is a scientific fact that the mercury will mingle with the venereal and form a disease a great deal worse than the original. All those who have reason to think, by bad feelings, that they have been treated thus, should consult Dr. Young, and he will examine their cases and tell them at once how they stand.—Consultation Free.

Of all the above enumerated diseases—terrible in their array, and fearful as they are in their results—the one standing preeminent amongst them for severity and destructive effects, is that most terrible of all diseases, seminal weakness, or spermatorrhœa.

Those who have become the victims of solitary vice, that dreadful, fascinating and destructive habit, which fil s thousands of sick rooms with paralytics and consumptives, and hundreds of untimely graves with its misguided victims, should consult, without a moment's delay, one who will sympathize with their sufferings, and cure them for a moderate compensation.

Dr. J. C. Young would especially address himself to such, giving to each and all assurance of a perfect and permanent cure.

The young man who experiences that growing weakness in his muscular and mental organization should stop to consider whence it arises.

He will find in the weakness of the back, trembling of the limbs, disordered digestion, unaccountable failing of the powers of the mind, distaste for society, dread of impending trouble, forebodings of evil, sleeplessness, troubled and lavicious dreams, accompanied by nocturnal emissions, growing deafness, loss of muscular power, and numerous other symptoms of disorganization, the positive traces of that most terrible and destructive of all diseases, seminal weakness—wasting away his powers, destroying his hope of life and manhood, and dragging him along the broken puth of existence towards a premature and loathsome grave.

The intermediate steps between the commencement of this disease and its culmination in that only rest to the uncured victim—death—may be enumerated, loss of muscular power, insanity, impotency.

To him who finds his life dribbling out in the discharges of the vital principle of existence in nocturnal and diurnal emissions, the mere cessation of the causes of its appearance brings no assurance of relief.

Marriage, that holy office, the safeguard and hope of manhood, brings to such an one no hope of cure, but adds to his misery in the knowledge that the one who looks to him for so much of her happiness, is a victim of his evil and an innocent companion in his punishment. He adds to his misery and his disorder, until hope leaves him.

There is no cure except in proper and skillful treatment. Consult, then, at once, a Physician whom long practice and careful research has made thoroughly conversant with every phase of the disease.

All those who are married, or contemplate marriage, who experience any of the numerous symptoms pronouncing the presence of seminal weakness, should at once place themselves in communication with Dr. J. C. Young, 615 Commercial street, opposite U. S. Branch Mint, either by letter or personal interview, who assures them of a perfect and permanent cure, without danger of exposure or hindrance from business, it being impossible for a man's most intimate companion to discover for what he is being treated.

To those in the Interior of the State.

Who are suffering under any form of Private Disease, whether contracted from impure connections or induced by other causes, Dr. YOUNG would directly address himself, informing them that they can be cured without the necessity of a journey to San Francisco.

Diseases of the heart, lungs, and liver. Dr. Young would call the attention of invalids to his course of practice in the above complaints. Throwing aside as worse than useless, as highly injurious, all forms of mercury, the Doctor relies entirely upon the Vegetable Practice.

Thousands of testimonials are in his hands indicating the astonishing success he has met with in the treatment of all diseases of the Heart, Lungs and Liver, on a purely Vegetable basis. The treatment calls for no confinement to the house, absence from business, nor change in diet.

The same success has marked his treatment of all Diseases of the Blood and Skin.

Invalids should address at once, (consultation free) DR. J. C. YOUNG, 165 Commercial street, opposite the Mint, San Francisco.

TO LADIES

Desirous of the advice of a Physician upon the diseases peculiar to their sex, should select one whose reputation for success and skill warrants him in the assurance of guaranteeing to them not only relief but perfect cure.

DR. J. C. YOUNG

Has been for a series of years a professor of the disorders of Females, and the success attendant upon his treatment has become so well known as to elicit universal approbation.

Ladies who have taken advantage of his skill enjoy perfect immunity from a return of their former sufferings.

☞ Communications (by letter or personal interview) perfectly confidential.

Ample Office Accommodations secures the patient against the chance of meeting other than the attendant Physician.

The celebrated Female Remedies, compounded from the private prescriptions of DR. YOUNG, have now obtained a most extended popularity, and are correctly viewed to be the safest and surest remedies for the complaints for which they are applied.

THE KING SPY.

A few months since a fashionably dressed personage arrived at Cincinnati per railroad, and secured a suit of rooms at the Burnet House, and registered his name as "Louis A. Belville, Russia." His sauvity of manner, elegance and neatness, general appearance, and indeed everything, betokened that the newly arrived guest was one possessing metropolitan intelligence, if not those attributes of popularity now-a-days, affluence and wealth. His manner was reserved but firm, his conversation bland yet winning, and only a few days elapsed before he extorted from the resident guests of the house, both civil and military, a solicitude to make his acquaintance, which was somewhat difficult to accomplish, apparently. Once made, however, the wily Russian, by his social ability and lavishness with money, so completely enamored his new acquaintances, that they, to use a vulgar expression, "tied to him," urged and gained his introduction to their friends, and in short inaugurated him as the prince of society in Cincinnati. Parties were given in order that this foreign representative might loom out more specially as the bright particular star. He was feted to his heart's content, no pains being spared to give him ovations that would honor a higher personage in the grade of European society than that which he was alleged to be.—Yankee curiosity was soon raised to the highest pitch as to the probable mission of this gentleman on the American continent and the solicitude in finding out culminated in the direct question being put to the noblemon. With his usual keenness and nonchalance he promptly responded that recently in Russia he had been inveigled into a quarrel with his government of a political character, but of such a serious nature to the emperor, that banishment from the country was the consequence. His intentions were at once decided to come to America and become one of her citizens, and after a residence of three years, return to Russia and enjoy all the privileges of that kingdom without a fear of molestation. His off-hand mode of briefly alluding to his complicated foreign difficulty succeeded in satisfying his American friends, and gained for him a sympathy that was wonderful. Thus matters continued for several days. Staff officers of the various resident generals and transient generals were not content, in the strolls throughout the city and evening promenades with lady friends, unless Mr. Belville was one of their number. At the various military headquarters he was a welcomed and constant visitor, and as he was deeply itnersted in our domestic difficulties, and sympathized strongly with the Government in the complete success of the Union army, many of the contemplated movements were confided to his keeping. His suggestions were frankly given, and generally thankfully received. Indeed no American citizen and to the manor born could have learned one-tenth of the information given to this strange Russian. By the side of generals he visited fortifications, camps, etc., and discovered our real strength in the field and at posts, and the destination of our armies.—His knowledge of the American States was astonishingly limited, and to particularize was a "military necessity" on the part of those with whom he conversed. He passed in and out of the military prisons, and had a carte blanche to visit any portion of this department. A seeming indifference to accept all the compliments that were paid to him, and the declination of several offers, gained for him a confidence with our military chieftains and their aids amazingly marvellous. At their request he went to a fashionable boarding-house on Fourth street, adjoining headquarters, and where none but military officers are entertained. Occasionally he would leave the city a few days to visit Chicago, St. Louis, and other western and northwestern cities, and to become more familiar with the American country. Although his absence was brief, he was missed by his scores of friends, who welcomed his return with unmistakeable affection.

One of these absentings was unusually long, and considerable misgiving was entertained as to his failure in returning lest an accident caused the delay. A few days since his absence was accounted for, the latest bubble of Queen City confidence was exploded, and the Russian nobleman turned out to be nothing more or less than a rebel spy, whose discovery was thus made. His trip from Cincinnati was to Lexington, not far from which, in a skirmish, he was taken prisoner with other rebels in arms. He was removed to Johnston's Island, from which place he sent a letter to one of his friends in this city to go to his late boarding house, settle his bill and get his trunk, which was to be forwarded to him on the island above named. This news being imparted to the military circle generally, the terrible truth flashed across their minds for the first time that they had been entertaining and giving important information to a spy from the Confederate army. Measures were immediately taken to fasten upon this sharper the charge of being a spy, and District Provost Marshal Reany went to Johnson's Island for that purpose. Mr. Reany has returned from Johnson's Island, bringing with him the spy Belville, who is at present lodged in the McLean barracks, on Third street, to await the further action of the authorities. His real name has not yet been developed, the probabilities being that Belville is fictitious. The Marshal has further learned that about two years and a half ago Belville entered the rebel service under John Morgan, a portion of his command, of which Belville was a member, was detached and ordered to report to Humphrey Marshall. Gen. Marshall made Belville's acquaintance, and learning that he could speak five different languages, and being exceedingly shrewd withal, had charged him to come North in the capacity of a rebel spy. Belville went to Washington, Boston, New York, Baltimore, St. Louis, and all the leading cities and posts, and adroitly succeeded in gaining the confidence of the military authorities, from President Lincoln down. The information he gained at the Capitol from the War Department and the Cabinet officers was of great importance, and was continually forwarded South by the underground railway.—When he had occasion to visit the armies he would purchase stores for the Union troops, and as a sutler or agent for the Sanitary Commission he always had free passes to every part of the Union camps. Such was his knowledge of all our movements that no sooner were they determined upon by our commanders than the enemy was posted at once, and our plans checkmated or frustrated. It is truly marvellous how successfully he carried on his operations. He is now kept in close military confinement and will be brought before a military Court martial to be convened by General Burnside and tried as a tpy, and if convicted, of which there is no possible doubt, he will suffer death by being shot.

AN EXTRAORDINARY AIR SHIP.—A New York paper notices the success of the most extraordinary invention of the age, if not the most so the world ever saw—at least the greatest stride in invention ever made by a single individual. In October last, Dr. Solomon Andrews, of New Jersey, commenced the construction of a war ærostat, for reconnoitering purposes on his own personal responsibility, not being able, after submitting his plans to the Hon. Secretary of War "to see the utility" of a machine which would go over into secesh and reconnoiter the force and position of the enemy. His plans showed that the machine could not do otherwise than go ahead in any direction in which the bow was pointed, and that, too, with any amount of power or force which might be desired, and which gaeenbacks would readily procure.

The power required, and the propelling apparatus add but little weight to the ærostat, whether of large or small dimensions; consequently it did not increase the dimensions of the ærostot beyond that of the balloons of ordinary construction, much less in size than many that are now made. The machine made by Dr. Andrews would carry up three men in addition to all the fixtures and paraphernalia necessary for its forward movement. It contained twenty-six thousand cubic feet of hydrogen gas. It carried him, weighing one hundred and seventy-two pounds, and two hundred and fifty-six pounds of ballast. Its form was that of three cigars pointed at both ends, secured together at their longitudinal equators, covered by a net, and suspended by one hundred and twenty cords, a car sixteen feet below, under the center. The car was twelve long, made of basket work, and was sixteen inches wide at the bottom. The ærostat, or cylindryids, were made of varnished linen, like ordinury balloons.

On Friday, Sept, 4th, he made his last experiment, and demonstrated to an admiring crowd the possibility of going against the wind, and of guiding her in any and every direction with a small rudder, having only seventeen square feet of surface. He made no long flight in a straight line, lest his modus operandi should be divulged; but by a most ingenious plan demonstrated her capabilities beyond the possibility of a doubt, whilst he prevented a public knowledge of his method of propelling. After a few short flights, to satisfy himself and friends that all was right, and she would do all he had contemplated, he set her off in a spiral course upward, she going at the rate of not less than one hundred and twenty miles an hour, and describing circles in the air more than one mile and a half in circumference.

She made twenty revolutions before she entered the upper strata of clouds and was lost to view. She passed through the first strata of dense white clouds, about two miles high, scattering them, as she entered, in all directions.—In her upward flight could be distinctly seen her rapid movement in a contrary direction to the moving clouds, and as she came before the wind, passing by them with great celerity. As she was seen thus to move, both below and above the clouds, on the clear sky, about five o'clock, P. M., with the sun shining clear upon her, there could be no mistake or optical delusion to the beholder.

As to her propelling power and motive apparatus, it behooves us not now to speak. It might be considered contraband of war, or affording aid and comfort to the enemy, for with such a machine in the hands of Jeff. Davis, the armies around Washington would be powerless to preserve the capital. We think Dr. Andrews deserves more praise for the patriotic ingenuity with which he has preserved his secret, and yet tried his experiment in the open air before the public, than even that manifested in the conception and construction of his machine.

A SATISFACTORY ANSWER.—An attorney in the country recently received an account for collection, and in reply he made the following statement of the financial condition of the section in which he resides, which was doubtless perfectly satisfactory the creditor. We will here take occasion to say that persons holding bills against any one in this "neck o' woods" had better keep them at home, as there is not a ghost of a chance to get money in these diggins:

"Now, I am perfectly astonished at you for sending a claim out here for collection these times. You might as well cast your net into the 'lake of fire and brimstone,' expecting a sunfish, or into the celebrated Stygian pool to catch a speckled trout, as to try to collect money here. Money! I have a faint recollection of having seen some when a small boy. I believe it was given me by my uncle to buy candy with. (The candy I do remember.) But it has been so long since I have seen any that I almost forget whether gold is made of corn or mustard, or silver of white onions or fish scales. Why, sir, we live without money. You are behind the times.—It is relic of barbarism—of past ages. We live by eating here, sir—we do. Hoot, man, the millenium is coming, the year of jubilee has come, and all debts are paid as much as they will be, unless you take 'projuce.' The word 'money' is not in our vocabulary; in the latest Webster (revised for this miridian), it is marked 'obsolete, formerly a coin representing value and used a medium of commerce.' A few small pieces can be seen in the Historical Society's collection, which are exhibited as curiosities, along with the skeleton of the mastodon, Noah's old boots, and Adam's apple."

A NEW PLANET DISCOVERED.—Mr. James C. Watson, of Ann Hurbor, Michigan, writes to the Detroit Fress Press- "I have the pleasure to inform you that I have discovered a new planet on the morning of the 15th September. Its right ascension is fifty-nine minutes (time), and its declination nine degraes and fifty minutes. The motion indicates that the new planet belongs to the group between Mars and Jupiter. It shines like a star of the tenth magnitude."

MISCELLANEOUS ADVERTISEMENTS

HALL'S SARSAPARILLA,

Yellow Dock and Iodide of Potass.

This celebrated preparation has stood the test of six years with the California public—who are justly considered as a community the most intelligent in the world—during which period we are proud to say it has given more than satisfaction:—it has become the household remedy for Californians particularly, who, from much exposure, bad food, imperfect shelter and irregular habits, suffer more from

RHEUMATISM

Than any community in the world; and we are safe in saying that as a rule, California Rheumatism cannot be cured thoroughly without the use of

HALL'S SARSAPARILLA,

It is the only preparation that will cure Rheumatism, as thousands can testify who have tried the medicines of the best Doctors in the country, without receiving any benefit therefrom. It all cases it gives immediate relief when taken as per directions on the bottle.

FEMALES

in deliecte health would do well to try the virtues of this remedy, as it insures a peculiar beneficial influence upon the vascular system not obtained by any other remedy. It quickly removes from the blood and other fluids the impurities of unhealthy secretions, which engenders a long train of diseases, such as Scrofula, Ulcers, Boils, Blotches and Pimples on the face and body, Humors, Pustules, Sores, Tumors, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Scald Head, Swelled Neck, Liver Complaint, Lumbago, Chronic Sore Eyes, Gout, Cancer, Enlargement of the Ovaries, and diseases of the Heart, are cured by the renovating action of this truly valuable medicine. It acts like a charm, purifying the blood of all morbid and corrupt matter, and at the same time strengthens and invigorates the whole system.—Salt Rheum will positively yield to the medical powers of this remedy, in conjunction with Hall's Rosemary Cerate, it has cured cases of over twenty years standing, the disease covering nearly the whole surface of the body.

MERCUIAL DISEASES

and all diseases arising from lead, mercury, and arsenic, such as aching pains in the bones, dimness of sight, low fevers, and worst of all, mercurial Rheumatism, are relieved by one bottlee of this remedy. Night sweats, wasting of flesh, spitting of blood, habitual costiveness, and piles—thousands can testify to the efficacy of Hall's Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock and Iodide of Potass in the above named diseases. It increases the appetite and the flesh, gives a healthy tone and vigor to the whole system, building up a new constitution. As the constitution is the blood and this remedy thoroughly purifies, cleanses, and purges it of impure matters, and at the same time stimulates into healthy action the whole Visceral System, which is engaged in the manufacture of the blood, hence the health of the whole system will follow, and a

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE State of California, Oregon, and adjacent Territories:

THE SUBSCRIBER ONE OF YOUR EARLIest citizens of California, and for the most of his time engaged as a Journalist, and particularly of late in a Journal devoted to the chief resources of the Pacific States, respectfully submits the following plan and proposition for the purpose of bringing hither from England, France and Germany the working classes, mechanics artizans, miners, and metallurgists for the purpose of developing the resources of our thinly populated States and Territotories, thereby reducing labor, the establishing of Factories, the occupation of the millions of acres of arrable land now lying dormant, and to work our mines. The benefit accruing to our Government—to the marine conveyances—the merchant—the manufacturer, the mining conveyances and professional community cannot but be beneficial, provided the facilities are offered to such emigrants, and according to the tenor of our laws regarding such. For these purposes the subscriber desires to seek only the necessary or pecuniary aid to take him across the Pacific and Atlantic, so that he may be enabled to lay before the people of Europe a work which he has compiled from authentic sources comprising the mineral wealth of the Pacific States, including partly Mexico, Lower California, British Columbia, &c., together with a synopsis of the climatology, agriculture, arts and manufactures, with interesting statistics of our imports and exports, and population. Also, the organic acts of our State, the local and general laws governing mining, the Preemption Act, and kindred subjects pertaining to the Pacific States. The author reserving for himself the right of translation of this work (which has cost him three years of his time to collect and compile) in the German and French languages.

He contemplates making the tour to the Atlantic States and Europe in February or March 1863, and will equip himself with the mineral materials, fossil remains, &c., and illustrate them by diagrams and discourses throughout the Atlantic States and Europe.

Such a work which your petitioner has in view cannot be published in this State without an extraordinary outlay, nor have we the materials artists, or skill in copperplate or wood engraving. The work will comprise from 400 to 500 pages, to be handsomely illustrated with colored plates, maps, &c, quarto form. The subscriber will add thereto a complete list of all the associations and companies, especially mining companies.

He goes to Europe for the purpose of seeing all the manufacturing places, machines and utensils; also to the leading mining districts and metallurgical establishments, to acquire from the best sources there the best mode of treating our rich minerals, and lay these several important features before our people through the Mining and Scientific Press, and the work he hereby offers. But the most important subject in his mission is the inducements he will offer to the Europeans of our immensely rich mining fields and agricultural lands, together with the great advantages offered by a liberal and protective government for industrious citizens.

The Subscriber, therefore, calls upon the citizens in the Pacific States who have the interests of our new States nearest their heart, to aid him in thisgr and but laudable undertaking with means. Each subscriber will be furnished with a copy of this work, which is designed to be useful in the counting house, to the professional man and miner. The author desires to state that whatever aid or subscription he may be furnished with by the people of this State he will refund after the publication of the work, or leave the amount to be taken out in books.

Respectfully submitted,

JULIUS SILVERSMITH.

THE PRIDE OF NEW YORK.

1863's Specialty.

GRAND MIRROR OF AMERICAN GENIUS

"Correct with spirit, eloquent with ease,
Intent to reason, or polite to please."

The New York Mercury

FOR THE NEW YEAR.

It is with no fear of War's effect upon their literary fortunes, that the publishers of the NEW YORK MERCURY acknowledge the unwavering loyalty of their TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND SUBSCRIBERS, and announce to them, and to all, that THE NEW YORK MERCURY for this year (1863) will be richer in every luxury of Polite Literature than ever before. It is no upstart speculation, no temporary "sensation," but a first class literary weekly, which has been familiar to the United States for a quarter of a century, and while the wishy-washy mushroom prints of yesterday are cutting down their talent even while they raise their subscription price, THE NEW YORK MERCURY maintains all its great Staff of Romancers, Poets, Humorists, Essayists, Story Tellers, and Editors, and promises to make it still greater for 1863.

It is the one paper for every home. Its forty columns of reading matter per week constitute an unparalleled

CONSERVATORY OF THE ENTERTAINING,

and its Novels, Miscellaneous Tales, Beauties of Verse, Gossip, Feuilletons, Broadsides of Humor, and Polished Editorials, combine to epitomize all the charms of

WIT AND SENTIMENT.

The husband reads it to his wife, the mother to her children, the lover to his sweetheart, the soldier to his comrades, and the village schoolmaster to the circle around the stove. It is familiar to the sight of every man, woman, and child in our country, and has regular subscribers in several countries of Europe. THE NEW YORK MERCURY is also identified with the grandest patriotism of the age, for several members of its brilliant Staff held high rank in our noble army, and have made themselves as famous with the Sword as with the Pen. The great illustrating artist of the NEW YORK MERCURY, the inimitable DARLEU, gives the paper the highest attributes of Fine Art; and yet this largest literary weekly of the day promises to surpass itself in all these respects during the New Year.

The first NEW YORK MERCURY Novelette for the New Year, to be commenced in the issue of January 3, 1863, is called

VICTORIA;

OR,

THE HEIRESS OF CASTLE CLIFF.

BY COUSIN MAY CARLETON,

AUTHOR OF "GIPSY GOWER," "SYBIL CAMPBELL," "ERMINE," "LA MASQUE," &c., &c.

The productions of this distinguished authoress need no eulogy. Public opinion has long since pronounced them superior to any other novelettes published on this side of the Atlantic; and the true test of their merit is found in the fact that they are eagerly reproduced, after their publication in the MERCURY, by the English press. We may add that the new tale, "Victoria," is fully equal in interest and depth of plot to either of those which have secured so large a share of public approval, and we can earnestly recommend it to all story-readers.

THE NEW YORK MERCURY is sold by all newsmen and periodical dealers in America. To subscribers, it is regularly mailed every Saturday morning, for $2 a year; three copies for $5; six copies for $9; eight copies for $12, with an extra copy, free, to the getter up of the club. Six months' subscriptions received. Always write plainly the name of your Post Office, County and State. We take the notes for all solvent banks at par. Payment must invariabaly be made in advance.

☞ Specimen Copies sent free to all applicants. Address all letters and remittances, pos paid, to
